About Artbox London

Artbox London provides a space for artists with learning disabilities and autism to explore and discover art in their own individual way, as well as build connections with other artists. We also support our artists to exhibit and sell their work through exhibitions, commissions and private sales. This brings about a sense of achievement and accomplishment that has a positive effect on their wellbeing.

Key Tasks

- To support the session facilitator with prep work for the artists
- To meet and greet the artists when they arrive
- To proactively contribute to the artistic development of the artists
- To support artists to scan and catalogue their artwork
- To work closely with the session facilitator and artists to prepare for exhibitions
- To support the artists to clean and tidy their area
- To have awareness of the risks within the studio and follow Artbox's control measures to prevent accidents and incidents.
- To attend any volunteer meetings and/or training

Essential:

- Relevant qualification, ideally in an arts-based subject (degree or advanced professional qualification) or equivalent prior experiential learning
- Interest in developing artists specialist practises
- Desire to work with and support people with learning disabilities and autism
- Able to commit to volunteering on a weekly basis
- Experience of working both independently and collaboratively.
- Knowledge of health and safety policies and procedures.
- Knowledge of safeguarding policies

Desirable:

- Working within a specialist field of art or design
- Skills in painting, drawing, sculpting, printmaking, animation and/or Adobe Suite
